

Copyright Approvals by discipline

The following is an alphabetical list of journals and publishers, arranged by Humanities discipline, that have given us permission to archive their scholarly works in our institutional repository. Any conditions are included in this list.

Aboriginal Studies

ABR – images need to be cleared individually

Adelaide Review

AIATSIS – Aboriginal Studies Press

Berg Publishers - Conditions as follow:

Pre-print: archiving status unclear

Post-print: subject to Restrictions below, author can archive post-print (ie final draft post-refereeing)

Restrictions: • 18 months

• Permission must be sought from publisher

Conditions: • Institutional repository only

• Non-commercial

• Must clearly state that the article is not the final print version

• Publisher's version/PDF cannot be used

• Must link to publisher version

Federation Press

Limina (“the archive sounds like a great project and you of course have our permission to archive Limina articles. Regards, Leith Passmore for the LIMINA Collective”)

Maney Publishing - Conditions as follow: Authors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any material for which they do not hold copyright. Authors must transfer copyright to the Energy Institute but are permitted to post a version of the published paper on their personal website provided copyright is acknowledged; the correct citation in the published journal is given; and a link is provided to the journal's homepage.

Oxford University Press - Conditions as follow:

Pre-print: author can archive pre-print (ie pre-refereeing)

Post-print: subject to Restrictions below, author can archive post-print (ie final draft post-refereeing)

Restrictions: • 12 month embargo on science, technology, medicine articles

• 24 month embargo on arts and humanities articles

Conditions: • Published source must be acknowledged

• Must link to publisher version

• Set phrase to accompany archived copy (see policy)

Policy: • Authors may upload their accepted manuscript PDF ("a post-print*") to institutional and/or centrally organized repositories (including PubMed Central), but must stipulate that public availability be delayed until 12 months after first online publication in the journal.

• When uploading an accepted manuscript to a repository, authors should include a credit line (see last bullet point below) and a link to the final published version of the article. This will guarantee that the definitive version is readily available to those accessing your article from public repositories, and means that your article is more likely to be cited correctly.

• Authors should include the following credit line when depositing their accepted manuscripts.

This is a pre-copy-editing, author-produced PDF of an article accepted for publication in [insert journal title] following peer review. The definitive publisher-authenticated version [insert complete citation information here] is available online at: xxxxxxxx [insert URL that the author will receive upon publication here].

Copyright Approvals by discipline

Routledge (Taylor & Francis Group publications):

Taylor & Francis Group

Pre-print: author can archive pre-print (ie pre-refereeing)

Post-print: subject to Restrictions below, author can archive post-print (ie final draft post-refereeing)

Restrictions: • 12 month embargo for STM Journals
• 18 month embargo for SSH journals

Conditions: • Some individual journals may have policies prohibiting pre-print archiving
• Publisher's version/PDF cannot be used
• On a non-profit server
• Published source must be acknowledged
• Must link to publisher version

Policy: 1. Always providing that the editorial policy of the journal concerned allows this within its policies on prior publication, you are able to post a pre-print version of the Article on Internet websites including your home page, institutional website or subject pre-print server so long as a link is made on publication to the final published version of scholarly record on the journal's web page.
2. You are able to post, after a 12-month embargo (STM) or 18-month embargo (SSH), your revised text version of the final article after editing and peer review on your home page, institutional website or subject repository so long as a single link is made to the fully reference-linked version of scholarly record on the journal's web page. For the avoidance of doubt, 'your version' is the author version and not the publisher-created PDF, HTML or XML version posted as the definitive, final version of scientific record.
• Authors should include the following credit line when depositing their accepted manuscripts.

"This is an electronic version of an article published in [full citation details for the article]. ['Journal Name'] is available online at: <http://journalsonline.tandf.co.uk> .

For example:

This is an electronic version of an article published in 'English Studies', vol.69, no.3 (1988), 205-223.
'English Studies' is available online at: <http://journalsonline.tandf.co.uk>.