• Set phrase to accompany archived copy (see policy)
Policy: • Authors may upload their accepted manuscript PDF ("a post-print*") to institutional and/or centrally organized repositories (including PubMed Central), but must stipulate that public availability be delayed until 12 months after first online publication in the journal.
• When uploading an accepted manuscript to a repository, authors should include a credit line (see last bullet point below) and a link to the final published version of the article. This will guarantee that the definitive version is readily available to those accessing your article from public repositories, and means that your article is more likely to be cited correctly.
• Authors should include the following credit line when depositing their accepted manuscripts.

This is a pre-copy-editing, author-produced PDF of an article accepted for publication in [insert journal title] following peer review. The definitive publisher-authenticated version [insert complete citation information here] is available online at: xxxxxxxx [insert URL that the author will receive upon publication here].

Routledge (Taylor & Francis Group publications):

Taylor & Francis Group

- Pre-print: author can archive pre-print (ie pre-refereeing)
Post-print: subject to Restrictions below, author can archive post-print (ie final draft post-refereeing)
Restrictions:
 - 12 month embargo for STM Journals
 - 18 month embargo for SSH journals
Conditions:
 - Some individual journals may have policies prohibiting pre-print archiving
 - Publisher's version/PDF cannot be used
 - On a non-profit server
 - Published source must be acknowledged
 - Must link to publisher version
Policy:
 1. Always providing that the editorial policy of the journal concerned allows this within its policies on prior publication, you are able to post a pre-print version of the Article on Internet websites including your home page, institutional website or subject pre-print server so long as a link is made on publication to the final published version of scholarly record on the journal's web page.
 2. You are able to post, after a 12-month embargo (STM) or 18-month embargo (SSH), your revised text version of the final article after editing and peer review on your home page, institutional website or subject repository so long as a single link is made to the fully reference-linked version of scholarly record on the journal's web page. For the avoidance of doubt, 'your version' is the author version and not the publisher-created PDF, HTML or XML version posted as the definitive, final version of scientific record.
 - Authors should include the following credit line when depositing their accepted manuscripts.
